

Gas Hawks Wanted

I am looking for help from the community. I need more people to post gas prices, so we can all find the best place to buy gas. (It only takes a minute!)

Simply join up, it's Free and you will not get spammed, add a gas price when you see one. Tell others to do the same. Soon we will have current prices for all the gas stations, all the time. Then we'll all be able to find the best price on gas! It doesn't cost anything and by giving a bit of time, everyone benefits.

The concept is simple. If I post 1 gas price I see a day, you do too. My sister does, your brother does, a friend from work, or school, soon all the prices are listed, and we can all review them to find either the best price in Kingston, the best price closest to home (That's an idea. Once I have this running, I should program it to show the best price around where I live. I'll set it up to work for you too!) and we can all start saving a bit, or a lot.

I'm working on having it so you can send and get prices through text messaging, so that you can get it on the go. But I need members to post the price of gas.

So when you see a price, write it down, then when on your computer, post it on the site. That's it!